Weekly Mass

There will not be mass during the week until October 17.

Weekend Mass is still being held and the Office is still open.

*"Were not ten cleansed?
Where are the nine?"*

Luke 17:17

We see still more in our own day people who implore God for what they lack but a mere handful who seem to be grateful for the blessings they have received.

Matters of Sexual Misconduct Information

If you have any suspicion about the sexual abuse (or any other type of abuse) of a minor child by anyone - please contact PA ChildLine immediately at 1-800-932-0313. If the alleged abuser is functioning in a parish, school or diocesan position as clergy, religious, paid staff or volunteer you are also requested to contact the Bishop's Delegate for Matters of Sexual Misconduct after you have called the ChildLine number and made the report. The Bishop's Delegate may be reached at 724-837-0901, ext. 1221.

WORSHIP TOGETHER

28th Sunday in Ordinary Time -

(2 Kings 5:14 - 17; 2 Timothy 2: 8 - 13; Luke 17: 11 - 19)

As I continue my annual retreat with the Trappist Monks at Holy Cross Abbey in Virginia, know that you are being remembered in my prayers (as you are remembered each and every day) and I ask for your prayers – for safe travel, and for spiritual enrichment. The weather has been typical for this time of year, especially in the hills of the Shenandoah – almost like back home: a morning nip in the air letting us know that Summer is behind us and Fall is in the air. The colors are spectacular, and this – being one of the centers known for apples (much like it is in eastern Pennsylvania, Adams County), driving through the various orchards, the air “wafts” with the scents of the apples as they ripen and are picked.

About this weekend’s Scripture Readings: we’re looking at messages of healing, as well as gratitude. Before we begin to look at the readings and the importance they have for us, I ask that you first – go to your Bible and read the entire fifth chapter in Second Kings for this most enjoyable story of the prophet and the Gentile general with leprosy, highlighting the power of God’s word to heal. With today’s familiar Gospel story of Jesus and the ten lepers, the focus is on God’s salvation coming to “outsiders” like Naaman and the Samaritan as both healing and conversion. We see God’s compassionate outreach for those whose leprosy placed them outside the community, because leprosy was a social stigma as well as a physical condition.

What I love in the story of Naaman is the role of the servants, the “little ones.” A servant girl captured in a raid first tells Naaman’s wife about “the prophet in Samaria.” After Naaman arrives at Elisha’s door, a servant brings the prophet’s message to wash seven times in the Jordan. And finally, it is the general’s own servants who convince him to follow this command when he gets all huffy about washing in the Jordan instead of the beautiful rivers back home. But down he goes and he is cured.

Leprosy is a stand-in for the condition of sin that alienates us from God and one another. God’s greatest desire is that we know divine and saving grace, a desire often brought home to us by the surprising messengers who God sends to us – including the prophet from Nazareth Who continues to surprise us after two thousand years. So be on the lookout for how God is working to draw you closer and deepen your faith.

Let us pray for the Conversion of the World & for Peace.

As we listen to these stories, let us be open to the power of Jesus’ healing which can save us. Then, like the one leper who returned to the Lord, let us return at every moment of every day to that same Lord, expressing our gratitude for all that He does for us – especially for those moments of our lives that we take for granted (especially for the gift of Himself in the Eucharist). Let’s also think of what it is like to be alienated from others because of any number of issues. How would we feel? That’s how the lepers of Jesus’ day felt. NOW – are there any people in our lives that we have alienated from our-

Saints for this week – October 11 - St John XXIII -

born Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli, (25 November 1881 – 3 June 1963) was head of the Catholic Church and sovereign of the Vatican City State from 28 October 1958 until his death in 1963. Pope John XXIII surprised those who expected him to be a caretaker pope by calling the historic Second Vatican Council (1962–1965), the first session opening on 11 October 1962. John XXIII made many passionate speeches during his pontificate. His views on equality were summed up in his statement, “We were all made in God’s image, and thus, we are all Godly alike.” He made a major impact on the Catholic Church, opening it up to dramatic unexpected changes promulgated at the Vatican Council and by his own dealings with other churches and nations. He did not live to see the Vatican Council to completion. His cause for canonization was opened on 18 November 1965 by his successor, Pope Paul VI, who declared him a Servant of God. On 5 July 2013, Pope Francis – bypassing the traditionally required second miracle – declared John XXIII a saint, based on his virtuous, model lifestyle, and because of the good which had come from his opening of the Second Vatican Council. He was canonized alongside Pope John Paul II on 27 April 2014. John XXIII today is affectionately known as the Good Pope.
